1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

I. Claims 1-53 & 60, drawn to pressure transducer, classified in class 73, subclass 700.

II. Claims 54-59, drawn to flow measuring device, classified in class 73, subclass 861.

III. Claims 61-73, drawn to velocimeter, classified in class 73, subclass 861.26.

2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons: Inventions II and I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination is a flow meter having a flow restriction. The subcombination has separate utility such as measuring pressure in a tire.

3. Inventions III and I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination is a measuring device having a sensing element. The subcombination has separate utility such as measuring pressure in a tire. Inventions II and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because combination is a flow measuring device. The subcombination has separate utility such as a measuring strain in a seat.

4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

IF Group I is elected then the following applies:

(I) (a) - measuring by deformation

(I) (b) - measuring change in shape

(I) (c) - measuring strain

IF (I) (a) is elected then the following applies:

(I) (a) (1) - flow restriction device

(I) (a) (2) - housing encircling sensor

(I) (a) (3) - at least two strain gauges

(I) (a) (4) - at least four strain gauges.

IF (I) (b) is elected then the following applies:

(I) (b) (1) - strain gauge

(I) (b) (2) - piezoelectric

(I) (b) (3) - optical light detection

(I) (b) (4) - capacitance

(I) (b) (5) - continuum wave

(I) (b) (6) - housing

(I) (b) (7) - flow restriction

IF Group III is elected, then the following applies:

III(a) - shaped conduit

III(b) - bellows coupling

III(c) - sensing tube

III(d) - housing conduit

III(e) - straight bar or rod

III(f) - flow measurements & pressure measurements.

Applicants are required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 1-8, 11, 34, & 35 are generic to group I(a) only; claims 36, 37, 43, & 44 are generic to group I(b) only; and claim 61 is generic to group III only. Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election. Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

A telephone call was made to Jonathan Platt on 6/2/03 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

6. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

7. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(I).

8. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier
